Brilliant Weddings Fill Week's Social Calendar

One Fashionable Marriage Will Be International When Miss Maud E. Kahn Becomes Bride of Captain J. C. O. Marriott, of Scots Guards

Already many members of society have gone to seashore and inland resorts for the summer, and by the end of next week, after the Yale-Harvard boat races at New London, the city, especially over the week ends, will be almost deserted, socially speaking, until after Labor Day. For those who still remain in town there are the numerous fashionable weddings during the day, and in the evening informal dinners on the roofs of the fashionable hotels, followed in most cases by theater parties to all in the time.

The weddings are being carried further into the month this year than is usual, and there will be little cessation in their number until Saturday of next week.

One of the brilliant marriages of the week will be an international one. It will be celebrated in the picturesque little St. John's Church at Cold Spring Harbor, L. I., on Tuesday, when Miss Maud E. Kahn, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto H. Kahn, becomes the bride of Captain and Brevet Major J. C. O. Marriott, of Scots Guards. As the church is very small, only relatives and friends will attend the ceremony, and the wedding will be a private affair. The bride is the daughter of a prominent family, and her marriage is a social event. The groom is a distinguished officer in the British army.

Another of the brilliant marriages of the week will be that of Miss Maud E. Kahn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto H. Kahn, to Captain J. C. O. Marriott, of Scots Guards. The wedding will take place at St. John's Church, Cold Spring Harbor, L. I., on Tuesday. The bride is a daughter of a prominent family, and the groom is a distinguished officer in the British army.

There will be a large contingent of New Yorkers going to Purchase, N. Y., on Saturday for the wedding of Miss Caroline Hicks Read, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Read, to Archibald G. McIlwaine, son of a former marriage of Mr. Joseph Palmer Knapp. The wedding will take place at Hill Crest, the country home of Mrs. Read, on Friday night. Miss Whitehead will give a dance at Ophir Hall, her country place in Purchase, for the members of the bridal party.

Evidently Friday holds no superlatives for Miss Elmer Whitney Kendall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kendall, for she has chosen that day for her marriage to Andre Eugene Grace. The wedding will take place in the Church of the Ascension, and the ceremony, which will be at 5 o'clock, will be performed by the Rev. Dr. Samuel Bushnell, an uncle of the bride. As the bride's father is in ill health she will be given away by her brother, W. Floyd Kendall. A small reception will follow at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kendall, 41 West Eleventh Street.

Mrs. Archibald Marshall Denny will attend her sister as matron of honor, and her small daughter, Katharine Denny, will be flower girl. Herbert Walsh, of Norfolk, Va., will wait upon Mr. Grace as best man, and the ushers will be Walton Cox, William F. Coggeshall, Harry Gardner and Archer H. H. H.

Venetian Costume Ball to Aid Italian War Orphanage Fund

Receipts From "A Masquerade in Venice" To Be Given at the Ritz-Carlton Will Go Toward a National Organization to Care for the Fatherless Children

Society has hardly completed its efforts in behalf of charity for the season just closed than it begins making plans for affairs for some worthy cause next winter. Announcement has just been made of a Venetian costume ball to be given on the night of November 23, just after the season of 1920-21 will be formally launched, in the ballroom of the Ritz-Carlton. It is to be called "A Masquerade in Venice," and the money raised will be toward a national organization to do good to Italian children, with American money, an orphanage for the children of those killed in the war. A special ball committee already has been named, composed of Frank Crowninshield, George S. Chappell, Royal Cortissoz, Chester H. Aldrich, the Princess Rospiigiosi, and John Moffat. Chester H. Aldrich heads the tribute to Italy as national president and Charles H. Sablin is national treasurer.

The ballroom of the Ritz will be transformed to represent the Piazza at Venice, with the Clock Tower in evidence, and adjoining it an arcade in which Florians shall dominate and where ices and refreshments will be served.

As to costumes, the plan is to follow, as far as may be possible, the pictures of Guardi, Longhi, Rosalba, and Tiepolo. For the men a soft white shirt, black silk stockings, knee breeches, white silk stockings, pumps, black short cloak, three-cornered hat and mask are suggested, but such garb is by no means obligatory. The committee realizes that the women will not need much help, and makes only two suggestions. One is that they should wear the three-cornered hat of Venice of the eighteenth century, and another that all should wear plenty of beads.

Tickets will not be put on sale, but can be obtained through members of the committee.

Among the women interested are the Princess Rospiigiosi, Mrs. Sidney Fish, Mrs. Newbold LeRoy Edgar, Mrs. Frederick T. Frelinghuysen, Mrs.
